This unedited original transcription by Jonathon Robbins of Claude Debussy's piano solos "Clair de Lune" and "Reverie" is presented in an attractive vintage photo cover of the Eiffel Tower, with an accompanying concert performance CD of the music. In addition to the full concert piano score, there are several paragraphs of notes about the two pieces, including the text of the original poem, "Clair de Lune, by Paul Verlaine in French and English, thought to be a source of inspiration for Debussy's famous piano solo. There is also an informative brief biographical sketch of Claude Debussy's life and contributions to music and composition. The concert performances on the CD are by Dean Mora, recorded at Angel City Music, Los Angeles, CA. (Original Piano, includes Concert Piano Performance Recording)

Also recommended in this simply outstanding series of classics adapted to other instruments are the following arrangements: "Beethoven's Fifth Symphony" arranged for trumpet and piano by Jonathon Robbins (TS351, $8.95), "Beethoven's Fifth Symphony" arranged for flute or violin and piano by Jonathon Robbins (TS352, $8.95), Debussy's "Clair de Lune" arranged for flute or violin and piano by Jonathon Robbins (TS317, $8.95), and Debussy's "Clair de Lune" arranged for trumpet and piano by Jonathon Robbins (TS316, $8.95).
